

ACCIDENTAL SEXINESS.COM

---

March 8, 2011

---

“Real Housewives of Miami” star Adriana De Moura will hit the runway during Fashion Week

You saw her hit the runway during the first episode of Bravo's Real Housewives of Miami, and now Adriana De Moura will get a chance to do it for real! The Brazilian beauty, who obviously relishes in the attention, will hit the runway during the 13th annual Miami Beach International Fashion Week.

For those of you that watched the first episode (and were able to keep both eyes open for its entirety), saw fellow Housewives Larsa Pippen and Cristy Rice dare Adriana to strut her stuff down last years runway which she most happily agreed to.

I don't really get what the big deal was though? There was no one sitting in the audience and no one around was really paying attention!!

But I digress!

This time, Miss Thang is going to do the real thing and hit the runway for Brazilian designer, Marcelo Quadros who will feature De Moura in the unveiling of his spring collection at the Copa Airlines Showcase. You can catch her at the Miami Beach Convention Center on March 5, 2011 at 8:30 pm.

These women better bring on the drama real soon before they divert from the successful path of other Real Housewife shows and go the way of Miami Social.